DECATUR, ILL. – Huston Patterson Corp. recently announced employee position changes in their production facility. The changes are effective immediately.

“Huston Patterson has been blessed with business growth the last few years. But with growth comes additional responsibilities in our production facility,” says Huston Patterson Chief Operating Officer Steve Frantz. “Our recent personnel changes allow us to have the right people in place to help us continue to strive toward our goal of becoming the largest privately held package printer in North America.”

Doug Mayberry, formerly Director of Second Shift Operations, has been named Assistant Vice President for Manufacturing, and reports to Vice President of Manufacturing, Don Ellis. Vic Mullins, previously the Director of Scheduling/Sheeting Operations, is the new Director of Plant Operations and will also report to Ellis. Press room operations responsibilities will be shared by Shawn Hays and Derek Miller.

“My goals are to improve structure, increase efficiencies and produce a better quality top sheet,” says Mayberry. “We have experienced people and the best equipment, so we can continue to work on improving our processes to stay ahead of the competition.”
